Research Progress

The research phase is steadily unfolding across all partner countries, bringing forward valuable archival material and cultural narratives.

These insights are now shaping the content that will form the foundation of the GUERRE digital museum..

Call for Artists

As the project evolves, the focus shifts from documentation to creation. The upcoming Open Call for Artists that will be announced through the website, will invite creatives to reinterpret historical archives, transforming heritage into contemporary artistic expression.

What Comes Next

With research progressing and the creative phase approaching, GUERRE moves closer to bringing its digital museum to life. Stay connected as history begins to take new form through culture, innovation and artistic creation.
